To All Dakshana Scholars,

One of my great life experiences was a visit to the JNV Rangareddy School in Hyderabad on December 30, 2010.

I spoke to 60 Dakshana Scholars there. While preparing for my talk, it seemed to me that I would share with them that they should be watchful for life's experiences that occur almost in a random way but that can be very significant in their lives. One such experience for me was a train ride I took from Madras to Hyderabad when I was 21 years old. While sitting on the steps of a third class carriage as the train sped to my home town, a stranger joined me on the steps. Before long we got chatting and he asked me if I had read "Think and Grow Rich" by Napoleon Hill. I had never heard of the book and he proceeded to say that it was a great book and I would benefit from it. I remember buying a copy and reading it as soon as the train arrived in Hyderabad. Today, almost 40 years from that day, I can tell you Dakshana Scholars that it was the single best book that I have read and it changed my life forever. By analyzing the lives of many successful people in America, the book concludes by saying:

"what the mind can conceive, the mind can achieve"

I am sure "Think and Grow Rich" by Napoleon Hill will impact your life as well and wish you all God's blessings as you make your way in this world.

Sincerely,

Prem Watsa
